Helpcomp Support Center

How to sort channels

Superk - 2021-05-02 - Comments (0) - Website

You can only sort your channels through GamersArray Channel Management.

1. Log into GamersArray

2. Click TeamSpeak > Channel management

3. Select your primary channel

4. Select the parent of the channel you would like to move
    1. Example 1: To move Regular Talk to the top, and IAmTest to the bottom I would select MyExtraneous Test Channel
    2. Example 2: To move Superk's Private Channel I would select Friends

Channel Selection

Primary Channel Selection:

MyExtraneous Test Channel

Sub-Channel Selection:

MyExtraneous Test Channel
　　Friends
　　　　Blah's Channel
　　　　Superk's Private Channel
　　1_EXTFRST
　　Regular Talk
　　IAmTest
　　　　Test222
　　AFK

+ Create a new channel

5. Click Edit Channel at the bottom

2
There are currently 0 clients.

Channel Hierarchy　　　　Channel Activity Graph

Channel Information　　　　Channel Description

Edit Channel　　Refresh　　Delete Channel

6. Click Basic > Sorting

Channel Configuration

Basic ▾　Permissions ▾　Description

Channel
Sorting
Move

1_EXTFRST

Regular Talk

IAmTest

AFK

Submit　Cancel

7. Click and Drag the channels to be in what order you want.
    1. Example 1 (see above, 4-1) I wanted to move Regular Talk to the top, and IAmTest to the bottom so I click Regular talk and drag to the top, then I click IAmTest and drag to the bottom.

    2. Example 2 (see above, 4-2) I wanted to move Superk's Private Channel to the top. I will click Superk's Private Channel and drag that to the top.

8. Once all the channels are in the order you want, click Submit.

Attachments

- SelectParentOfChannel.png (21.79 KB)
- SelectParentOfChannel_Friends.png (22.09 KB)
- MoveSuperkToTop.gif (29.65 KB)
- BasicthenSorting.png (13.99 KB)
- MoveRegularTalkToTop.gif (42.79 KB)